These innovative ETFs provide low-cost access to dynamic companies in the fields of Artificial Intelligence (AI), Robotics, Cyber Security, Future Cars, Social Media, Blockchain, Virtual Reality, Cloud Computing and Genomics. These ETFs offer one-stop vehicles into the key drivers of the Fourth Industrial Revolution.

The ETFs enable investors to gain exposure to companies leading transformative technological and industrial innovation on a global basis. These broadly diversified Solactive indices, include cutting edge companies from the US, China, Europe, Korea and Taiwan. Share classes are available in US$, Euros and Sterling share classes.

Both ETFs have been developed with HANetfs, Europe’s first independent ‘white-label’ UCITS ETF platform.

The HAN-GINS Cloud Technology UCITS ETF (SKYY) tracks the Solactive Cloud Technology Index, an index of leading companies that are active in the field of cloud-based software and services. The fund uses an artificial intelligence process to identify and capture a global cloud technology opportunity set with constituents weighted by market capitalization and capped at 4%. The fund has a TER of 75 bps.

The HAN-GINS Global Innovative Technology UCITS ETF (ITEK) tracks the Solactive Innovative Technologies Index, a diversified, global index of pioneering companies that are poised to create and benefit from tomorrow's industrial revolutions. The fund targets companies involved in Robotics & Automation, Cloud Computing & Big Data, Cyber Security, Future Cars, Genomics, Social Media, Augmented and Virtual Reality and Blockchain, enabling investors to gain exposure to many world-changing, high-growth sectors in a single trade. The fund has TER of 75 bps.

With these launches, GinsGlobal becomes the second U.S. asset manager and the first institutional asset manager to launch a UCITS ETF through the HANetf platform.

Anthony Ginsberg, Founder and Managing Director of GinsGlobal Index Funds said: "We're delighted to be partnering with the HANetf team on our first European ETF offerings. We believe HANetf's Irish platform is an attractive proposition for many global investors as they have made our transition from mutual funds to ETFs as smooth as possible. Our unique theme-based ETFs focusing on Cloud Computing and Innovative Technologies will provide European investors with easy low-cost access to dynamic global companies representing the Fourth Industrial Revolution. These two ETFs, include leaders in Robotics, Artificial Intelligence, Cyber Security, Social Media, Future Cars, Blockchain, Cloud Computing and Genomics. Investors benefit from Solactive's broad-based indices - including household names from the US, China and Europe, plus many other ground-breaking companies."

Nik Bienkowski, co-Founder and co-CEO at HANetf, said: "GinsGlobal has successful and well-established institutional funds in the U.S., and their team identified the opportunity to future-proof their business and extend their distribution via a European ETF offering. These launches demonstrate that the barriers to entry to the European ETF markets have been totally dismantled. No longer do asset managers need a European footprint, or their own ETF infrastructure to benefit from the disruptive distribution power of ETFs. We are delighted to have worked with GinsGlobal to bring these exciting new propositions to European investors."

Risk Factors

CAPITAL AT RISK: ETFs are tracking instruments: Their risk profile is similar to a direct investment in the Underlying Index. Investors' capital is fully at risk and investors may not get back the amount originally invested. REPLICATION RISK: The fund objectives might not be reached due to unexpected events on the underlying markets which will impact the index calculation and the efficient fund replication. Physically replicated ETFs may have counterparty risk resulting from the use of a Securities Lending Programme. UNDERLYING RISK: The Underlying Index of a HANetf ETF may be complex and volatile. ETFs exposed to Emerging Markets carry a greater risk of potential loss than investment in Developed Markets as they are exposed to a wide range of unpredictable Emerging Market risks. CURRENCY RISK: ETFs may be exposed to currency risk if the ETF is denominated in a currency different to that of the Underlying Index they are tracking. This means that exchange rate fluctuations could have a negative or positive effect on returns. LIQUIDITY RISK: Liquidity is provided by registered market-makers on the respective stock exchange where the ETF is listed. On-exchange liquidity may be limited as a result of a suspension in the underlying market represented by the Underlying Index tracked by the ETF; a failure in the systems of one of the relevant stock exchanges, HANetf or other market-maker systems; or an abnormal trading situation or event.
